Formerly all Palace cars were carrying red plat one at the back and the other in the front, on which were painted the words " Mysore " and a Palace number; while the Government House cars and the car stationed in Bangalore for the use of guests were having only general register numbers e.g. " Mys. 7554 " and so on similar to the ones issued to private owned cars.

In August 1939, the Huzur Secretary proposed to use red plates containing the double-headed eagle and a " Palace number" only without the word " Mysore " printed in white. The proposal was adopted and was in practice hitherto.

In the case of cars stationed in the Government House, Mysore and in Kumara Park, Bangalore, meant for the use of guests, the above procedure was ordered to be followed and these cars are now fitted up with plates containing double-headed eagle and a Palace number.

The Huzur Secretary now intimates to me that His Highness desires that the " Gandabherunda " crest should be used only in the case of cars in use in the Palace and that in the case of cars attached to the Government House and Kumara Park, the old arrangement should be reverted to, viz., that they should have only the word " Mysore " painted in white and a " Number " but without the Gandabherunda crest.

It is for orders if the old system of number plates with general registered number of the cars such as " Mys. 7554 " may be reverted in the case of Govt. House and Bangalore cars or if these cars may be given
